The override service allows AT&T cardholders to call a specified country or countries from most telephones in the United States using their AT&T Calling Card. It also allows AT&T cardholders to call from country to country using the AT&T World Connect Service. The override service is intended for customers who make international calls to or from countries experiencing a high incidence of calling card fraud. AT&T has the right to refuse this service.

Specify below the AT&T Calling Card numbers (DO NOT INCLUDE FOUR DIGIT PIN) and the country or countries that your cardholders frequently call. Please advise these cardholders to be particularly protective of their cards and card numbers.
